What is InspirED?

On September 3rd and 4th 2011, over three hundred of India's most innovative school teachers and administrators will gather in Mumbai for the second annual InspirED education conference.

InspirED highlights and disseminates Best Practices in education. The inaugural conference successfully brought together over 400 participants from across the country and from varying fields within the education sector to take advantage of the range of workshops, panels and presentations designed around the theme of innovation. InspirED supports and connects educators who approach issues in new ways, create innovative methods to engage students, question the education system, and take risks to transform their ideas into powerful impact.

InspirED 2011 will focus on transformation in education, seeking to provide a holistic approach to positive transformation in education through 4 strands:

- Pathways to opportunities
- Academic achievement
- Values and mindsets
- Student interests and transformations

InspirED 2011 is hosted by The Akanksha Foundation, Asia Society India Centre, The American School of Bombay and Teach For India.

Who should apply to attend InspirED 2011?

InspirED focuses on K-10 standard teachers. Teachers from all backgrounds and levels of experience are welcome- from those new to the profession and already seeking change in their classrooms, to seasoned professionals with tried and tested methods for success.
